

FERGUS CRAIG

"Colin and Fergus are self assured, pervasive, intelligent, cheeky, seductively subversive and downright weird."

Justin Tilbury, The Guardian

"Colin and Fergus are an energetic and oddly dark pleasure...their giddiness is contagious and their sweetness a curve ball to the surreal black humour so professionally showcased."

Mickey Noonan, Metro

WHAT THE PRESS SAID ABOUT...

'Fergus Craig: Still Watches Neighbours'

If you love 'Neighbours' and you love comedy then you'll love this. In fact even if you don't love 'Neighbours' there's still a huge amount to enjoy in this light and fluffy tale of one boy's obsession with the Australian soap. Through numerous hysterical bits of commentary over some classic clips from Ramsay Street's finest moments Craig uses the full force of '80s nostalgia to wring out the laughter from his audience. There's more to it than just Jason and Kylie's wedding or Harold Bishop's mysterious disappearance, it's also an examination of the safe places we chose to escape to when life isn't quite what we expected – even if that place is populated with bad actors and creaky storylines. A hugely pleasurable hour of fun.

Tim Arthur, Time Out

"Infectious, assured and gleeful, this could be right up your (Ramsay) Street, whether you're a fan of the show or not."

★★★★

Peggy Hughes, The List

"Whips the audience's attention into a frenzy and holds them there."

Jodie Fleming, Scotsgay

"Craig's strength is in his delivery. He has the most beautiful conversational style, enhanced by his slightly self-deprecating nods to the content. He is a complete natural on stage with a brilliant grasp on observation, dissecting every aspect of his beloved soap as it plays on the big screen...Craig is a hugely exciting act...Watch out for him."

Corry Shaw, Chortle

"Natural charisma and superb observational humour...Craig is a fantastically engaging performer."

Nick Coupe, Three Weeks

"Accessible even to those who have managed to resist the sunny lure of Ramsay Street, this is an unexpected and delightful comedy act."

Jennifer Blyth, Fest

"Consistently entertaining."

Nadine McBay, Metro
