

ISY SUTTIE

"One of the UK's brightest young comics."
Jay Richardson, Edinburgh Festivals

"Suttie has something of a contemporary Victoria Wood about her, being a talented musician with a canny eye for accents and the nuances of working folk."
Steven Armstrong, Sunday Times

Best known for playing IT geek Dobby in the latest series of Peep Show, Isy is also a regular on the national stand-up circuit. Her idiosyncratic songs, stand-up and characters saw her first solo stand up show, Love Lost in the British Retail Industry, completing a sell-out run at the 2007 Fringe. This year's festival saw her performing her second solo show, The Suttie Show prior to joining the Paramount Comedy Edinburgh & Beyond tour.

DETAILS

Location: London
Height: 5'5"
Playing Age: 21 - 30 years
Role Types: White
Eye Colour: Grey/Green
Hair Colour: Dark Brown
Hair Length: Mid Length
Unions: Equity

SKILLS

Accents & Dialects: (* = native)
Australian, Cockney, Liverpool, London, Midlands East*, Northern, RP, Standard American, Yorkshire

Languages: (* = mother tongue)
English*, French

Music & Dance: (* = highly skilled)
Alto*, Ballet, Bass Guitar, Drums, Folk Singing*, Guitar*, Jazz Dancing, Jazz Singing, Percussion, Period Dancing, Piano, Rap, Recorder, Rock Singing, Tap, Viola, Violin

Performance: Comedy, Compere, Musical Comedy, Prof. Musician, Stand-up Comic

Sports: (* = highly skilled)
Badminton, Pool

Other Skills:
Composer, Improvisation

AVALON MANAGEMENT GROUP LTD
4A Exmoor Street, London W10 6BD
Phone: 020-7598 8000
Fax: 020-7598 7300
WWW: www.avalonuk.com

TELEVISION

Glee! The Real Show Choirs of America, E4, 2010
Guest

Peep Show VI, Channel 4, 2009
Dobby

Transmission Impossible, CBBC, 2009
Various

Walk on the Wildside, BBC One, 2009

8 Out of 10 Cats, Channel 4, 2009
Panellist

Whites, BBC Two, 2009

Penelope Princess of Pets, Channel 4, 2009
Josie the Dog

Peep Show V, Channel 4, 2008
'Dobby'

The Incredible Will and Greg, Channel 4, 2008
Various

Skins, E4 and Channel 4, 2008
Writer

CBBC Presentation, CBBC, 2008
Marie Antoinette, Ciara

Comedy Cuts, ITV2, 2008
Performer

Edinburgh and Beyond, Paramount, 2008
Performer

Genie In The House, Nickelodeon / I Love Television, 2008
'Casting Director'

Love Soup, BBC One, 2007
'Researcher'

Cornershop, BBC North, 2007
'Kelly'

RADIO

The Vote Now Show, BBC Radio 4, 2010
Performer

All The Planet's Wonders, BBC Radio 4, 2008
Performer

Tilt, BBC 7, 2008
Performer

Danny Robins Music Therapy, BBC Radio 4, 2007-8

Performer/Writer

4 Stands Up, BBC Radio 4, 2007
Performer

Laurence and Gus Show, BBC Radio 4, 2007-2009
Performer/Writer

28 Acts In 28 Minutes, BBC Radio 4, 2006
Performer

Fordham & Lipson In Your Ear, BBC Radio 4, 2006
Performer

Love, Death and Puzzles, BBC Radio 4, 2006
Performer

The Now Show, BBC Radio 4, 2006
Writer

The Milk Run, BBC Radio 1, 2004
Performer/Writer

LIVE

The Suttie Show, Edinburgh Festival, 2008
Solo Show

Edinburgh and Beyond, Tour, 2008
Performer

Love Lost In The British Retail Industry, Edinburgh Festival, 2007
Solo Show

Take A Break Tales, Edinburgh Festival, 2006
Performer

The Comedy Zone, Edinburgh Festival, 2005
Performer

Ray Peacock & Son, Edinburgh Festival, 2005
'Lydia'

The Comedy Network, National Dates, 2005 –
Performer

AWARDS

Nominated – British Comedy Award, Best Female Newcomer 2008

Nominated – Chortle Awards Best Newcomer, 2005

Winner – Daily Telegraph Young Jazz Award

Finalist – London Comedy Festival

Semi-finalist – BBC New Talent Competition

Semi-finalist – Amused Moose Star Search

WHAT THE PRESS HAS SAID

The Suttie Show, 2008

"Great stuff."

Stephen Armstrong, The Sunday Times

"One of the most versatile comics in the UK."

Jay Richardson, The Scotsman

"Gloriously upbeat... a wonderfully whimsical musical comedian, an absurdist Victoria Wood."

Bruce Dessau, The Evening Standard

"Funny and endearing."

Kane Mumford, Edinburgh Evening News

Isy Suttie: Love Lost In The British Retail Industry, 2007

"One of the UK's brightest young comics."

Jay Richardson, Edinburgh Festivals

"Suttie has something of a contemporary Victoria Wood about her, being a talented musician with a canny eye for accents and the nuances of working folk. The strongest part of the show, however, is the slightly bolted-on American singer songwriter whom Suttie uses to mock Alanis Morissette and Avril Lavigne with a merciless parody."

Steven Armstrong, Sunday Times

"Isy Suttie, whose first full-length Edinburgh show is a one-woman musical about two lovelorn Derbyshire supermarket employees. It's bittersweet and charming, and her stock of unpredictable punch lines hint at the shrewd intelligence of a ruder Joan Shuttleworth or Victoria Wood."

Nicholas Barber, Independent on Sunday

"Alan Bennett recently complained that he was no longer merely accused of being twee, but had become its yardstick. Here Bennett-style tweeness is just about kept at bay, thanks to Suttie's effective turns of phrase (love is "a salmon leaping up a multicoloured stream") and her frequent anti-romantic switchbacks: Lisa "spreads her legs like a slag made of butter", and Carl feels sappy enough to address her with the following words of love: "Id you were a golliwog, I'd overlook the social taboo." I'll overlook the familiarity of Suttie's material, and salute the lyrical flair and big-heartedness with which she brings it to life."

Brian Logan, The Guardian

"Quirkily endearing"

Jay Richardson, The Scotsman

Isy Suttie

"A fantastic comedian...great timing, great singer"

Entertainment Today, GMTV

"Impertinence and energy of a Weimar musical"

Evening Standard.

"Very funny, very clever and full of energy"

Chortle.co.uk

"Lovely dry edge counter pointed by the cutesy delivery"

Chortle.co.uk.

"Her songs were hypnotic: blending hilarity, lyrical brilliance and pathos so adeptly"

Chortle.co.uk