WHAT THE PRESS HAS SAID

"Like a kebab on the walk home, this confessional is a guilty pleasure"

Three Weeks

"Curiously charming, even when it's about animal porn"

The Times

"Peacock has a winning combination of old fashioned Northern chirpiness, a willingness to be the butt of most of the tales and unflinching ability to see the funny side...an uncomplicatedly entertaining hour"

Chortle

"Hecklers be warned - take Peacock on and you might just spark off the second War of the Roses"

Metro

"Genuinely odd, curiously endearing and (dare one say) original"

Time Out

"Crude, loud and bladder-poppingly funny..."

Evening Standard

"Immaculately funny"

Time Out

"Infectious and endearing...sharply observed and exuberantly delivered, this is meandering and genial mayhem..."

The Stage

"I was chewing on my notepad to quell the laughter as it all broke down into a brilliant shambles..."

Three Weeks

"Wonderfully light-hearted, wholesome entertainment and the perfectly timed antidote to the leaden verbosity of much comedy on the fringe..."

The List

"Future of comedy stuff...will rule the school"
