WHAT THE PRESS HAS SAID

"Magnificently imaginative...a coruscating display of postmodernist comedy. Brilliant."
Steve Bennett, Chortle

The Meeting 2008

"Not only is the most surreal show at the festival, it's one of the funniest"
Critics Choice - The Guardian

"Surrealist mayhem...The trio collectively known as the House of Windsor are proving that their vision of silliness is currently being matched by a playful talent."
Critic's Choice - The List - ****

"A truly ingenious piece of site-specific comedy...It's silly, wonderfully acted and perfectly scripted...A real gem."
Best of the Fest - Time Out - ****

"Beautifully surreal...Gloriously nonsensical" Chortle - ****

Critics Choice
The Observer

House of Windsor 2007

"Rich with genuinely bright, original ideas... The premises are inspired and their execution never ordinary... This may be the first time we've heard of them as a trio, but surely won't be the last."

Steve Bennett, Chortle

"Sketches are sourced from vastly original compartments of their comedic brain and blissfully spill out on stage"
Brian Donaldson, The List
